

Merve Senem Arkan	Arkin University of Creative Arts and Design	North Cyprus	The British Colonial Regime on Cyprus: Mapping the capital city, Nicosia
Camillo Berti	University of Firenze	Italy	Looking at Africa. Knowledge and land mangement from a university cartographic collection (Firenze, Italy)
Rildo Borges Duarte	Instituto Federal do Sul de Minas Gerais (IFSULDEMINAS) - campus Poços de Caldas	Brasil	A map to enter the "civilized" West: Brazil and the International Map of the World
Wouter Bracke	Royal Library of Belgium	Belgium	Maps for a King : King Leopold II's maps of Congo (before 1885)
Enali De Biaggi	Université Jean Moulin Lyon 3	France	Municipal imperialism and cartography – the maps from the geographic society of Lyon at the end of the 19th century
Philippe De Maeyer	Royal Academy for Overseas Sciences	Belgium	The contribution of the RAOS and its members to the cartography of Central Africa
Felix de Montety	Université Grenoble Alpes	France	Cartography, imperialism and the scientific invention of language borders (1807-1923)
Imre Demhardt	University of Texas at Arlington	USA	Maps to defend the Kaiser in Ottoman Asia
Lorenzo Dolfi	University of Eastern Piedmont	Italy	Italian East Africa through cartographic and photographic sources of the Istituto Agronomico per l'Oltremare (Florence, Italy)
Matthew Edney	University of Southern Maine / University of Wisconsin–Madison	USA	The Emergence of Map History in Paris, 1830–1850, to Narrate the Rise of European Civilization
Olesia Ignateva	Technische Universität Wien	Austria	Imperial spatiality in early Soviet maps
Philip Jagessar	King's College London	UK	Surveying the (post)colony: India, Africa and the persistence of colonial cartography
Jack Keilo	Université de Savoie, EDYTEM, Mesopolhis	France	The Biblical and the Mandatory. Naming the summit of Lebanon 1830-1930
François Kervyn	Royal Museum for Central Africa	Belgium	Preserve and make available maps from the RMCA collection
Lauren Killingsworth	Yale University	USA	Mapping Human Organs: Spleen Maps in Twentieth-Century Malaria Control Campaigns

Louis Le Douarin	Aix-Marseille Université	France	"A valuable element of pacification and French influence": Military cartographers as colonial agents in the Levant Mandate
Judith le Maire	ULB	Belgium	From an exploitation colony to a contemporary cartography of building materials
Mathilde Leduc	Royal Museum for Central Africa	Belgium	Stanley's map and colonial ambitions
Eric Losang	Leibniz-Institute for Regional Geography	Germany	Post-colonial national atlases - celebrating realizations of independence or sustaining colonial structures?
Guillermo Arturo Medina Frias		UK	Mapping land in British North Borneo: a colonial heterotopia
Manasi Mohanan Sushama	University of Hyderabad	India	Cartographic Memoirs in Colonial India: Uncovering the Entangled Practices of Mapping
Evangelos Papadias	Harokopio University of Athens	Greece	The limits of imperial knowledge: Cartography and the first Trigonometrical survey of Cyprus (Kitchener's map, ed. 1885)
Jiaying Shen	University of Toronto	China	The Pacific Empire Stillborn: Japan's South Seas Mandate and Maritime Lifeline Proclamation
Christopher Thiry	Colorado School of Mines Arthur Lakes Library	USA	Santa Claus rules the world: A case study of imperialism embedded in a map
Jan Vandersmissen	Ghent University	Belgium	Leopoldian imperial cartography: the case of the Kouilou-Niari Basin prior to the foundation of the Congo Free State